Just letting you know - we've recently partnered with a managed print services provider that I highly recommend. We've been very impressed with the work they've done for some of our mutual clients, saving them countless hours and dollars

Hey [Name],

Hope things are going smoothly on your end.

Quick note—I've recently started working with a managed print services provider that's been a great fit for a few of our clients. They handle everything from hardware to support, and the feedback so far has been really positive.

Not sure if that's something on your radar right now, but if you ever want to chat or get a quick intro, I'm happy to set that up.

No pressure—just thought I'd mention it!

Best,
